

MPENZI

BLACK WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL FILM & VIDEO FESTIVAL

JAY DREAMS, Director Jai Brooks and Catherine Pancake
(USA 2008, 25 min.)

Baltimore director Catherine Pancake adapts writer/poet Jai Brooks series of haikus dealing with the ins and outs of Dom-Fem culture. Pancake and Brooks' often hilarious, sexy — and always insightful — vignettes deal with the negotiations that take place in, and around, Butch/Femme/Trans dynamics. Brooks rightly calls the film "a slice of black Baltimore lesbian life."

JAI BROOKS

Jai Brooks is a comedic poet. With his tongue fully ensconced in her cheek, he will poke fun at all things we revolutionary artists hold dear. Jai is a core member of Baltimore's Charm City Kitty Club. He has been performing for over two decades and is excited to put the "trans" in Transmodern.

